Latin American Logographs

1. Examination of logographs employed by the East Coast Bureau for Latin American stations, particularly those for Cuba, have been noted to be inconsistent in regard to the use of either call letters and station name.

2. Under existing FBID procedure, the station name is used in formulating logographs. In cases where station name is not given or is exceptionally long, call letters may be substituted. In no case is it necessary to give both call letters and station name in formulating a logograph.

3. It is suggested that ECB be requested to adhere to the above procedure in formulating logographs in the future.
